

INTERESTING EVENTS IN THE LOCAL SOCIAL WORLD

MRS. FRANK HARRISON—Phone 139

Miss Pearl Muncy and Miss
Theresa White Compliment
Miss Hanley.

Small intimate gatherings have characterized the week's social activities. Of interest in Flagstaff society circles was the miscellaneous shower given for Miss Mary Hanley on Monday evening. Choosing the Milton hospital as the scene of this beautiful event Miss Pearl Muncy and Miss Theresa White entertained a score of friends with whom the honoree has been closely associated. The affair was very much of a surprise to the guest of honor who with others had been invited to a card party. The cleverly worked surprise was kept from the unsuspecting Miss Hanley until time came for the guests to find their place cards at an elaborate banquet table. It so happened that all place cards except Miss Hanley's were easily found and when at last she found hers and on it read "The Leading Lady," she had her first intimation that it was she who was the guest of honor. Standing by her place card was a darling little rubber lamb and around it's neck was tied a darling little verse. It was then she realized what was happening. Miss Hanley was given a ribbon which extended from her place over the chandelier and down to one corner of the dining room. There it was attached to a beautiful box. She was told to pull the ribbon and on doing so the box swung open. A bright light shone therein and there revealed an array of beautiful gifts. Many of them full of stitches of love, the giving of them prompted by sweet thoughts for this popular bride-elect. Beautiful bowls of pink and white carnation decorated the living room and reception suite, while the dining room was a mass of green and white. The table decoration were very effective with green streamers hung from the chandelier to the corners and sides of the table with an exquisite bowl of white hyacinths for the centerpiece. After the first course, which consisted of a delicious salad, was served, an opportunity was given Miss Hanley to see her gifts, after which the guests enjoyed a splendid banquet supper. Those assisting the guest of honor in enjoying the occasion were the Misses Mary G. Boyer, Minnie Lintz, Mildred Hornbein, Ruth Latimer, Blanche Stephens, Jane Conkny, Minnie Rickel, Louise Rickel, Mrs. Herman Kahl, Mrs. M. G. Fronske, Mrs. Eugene Campbell, Mrs. Frank Berg, Mrs. Hanley, and the two hostesses, Misses Muncy and White, all of whom played five hundred until eleven o'clock when Dr. M. G. Fronske, Dr. Schermann, Mr. Herman Kahl, and Mr. Frank Berg were invited in to help enjoy the feast.

Five Hundred Club Meets with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson.

The Five Hundred club enjoyed their regular meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson on Thursday evening. After an unusually enjoyable game tempting refreshments were served to the following club members: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Herbert Asselin, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Brandon, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albers, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hash, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zinn, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Waldhaus, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lindholm. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Mannin, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Tom Mannin, Mrs. G. F. Manning, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Prown, Mrs. Proctor, Mrs. Jula Kleisler, Dr. H. K. Wilson, and Mr. C. W. Isham.

Federated Church Services.

The theme to presented next Sunday morning, March 23rd, at the hour of morning worship will be "Lessons in Reconstruction."

The theme for the evening service will be "Setting Up a Banner." It is earnestly hoped that interest will not be found lagging in the new era movement, but that the same spirit that has been manifested will continue to show itself in this splendid cause.

The Wednesday evening prayer services continue to hold the interest of those who attend them, and those who do not attend will find that they will be of much interest and held to them if they will find time to go. All are cordially invited to attend these services at the Federated church every Wednesday night at 7:30.

Mrs. J. D. McGruer left Monday morning for a month's visit at her former home in Wisconsin.

Birthday Party.

On last Thursday night a host of Miss Ella Gehrmen's friends gathered at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Hyde, and celebrated in a delightful way the young lady's birthday. Miss Gehrmen knew nothing of the surprise that her young friends had so cleverly arranged. Dancing and games occupied the evening and refreshments, which had been prepared by the girls who arranged the party, were served. The girls and boys present were the Misses Ella Gehrmen, Ethel Compton, Grace Wensel, Cora Daugherty, Nellie Gregg, Marie Easton, Jackie Humphrey, Mary Michelbach, Nelma Black, Frances Blalock, Iva Van Deren, Madeline Fairchild, Messrs. Orinn Compton, Cecil McCormick, Ernest Hogan, Joe Michelbach, Leo Anspach and Harold Cameron.

Miss Dougherty Hostess.

Miss Cora Dougherty entertained a few of her friends in a very delightful manner on Friday evening. Dancing and games were enjoyed till a late hour when a delicious luncheon was served to the following: Misses Jackie Humphrey, Marie Easton, Madeline Fairchild, Reba Switzer, Ardelle Switzer, Mayme Jenkins, Nellie Gregg, Hazel Garing, Helen Perry, Gertrude Perry, Ethel Compton, Mrs. Dougherty and Miss Ivey assisted Miss Dougherty in serving.

St. Patrick's Ball.

The dance given by the Army and Navy club on St. Patrick's day was a pronounced success. Dancing began at 9:30 and continued until a late hour. It was an invitation affair, and on the whole was quite exclusive. The dancers were made up principally of the younger set and happiness and joyousness reigned. The young ladies in their vari-colored frocks and beautiful evening gowns, and the soldiers and sailors in their uniforms, gave spectators the impression that out from under the shadows of war, the heart ache of loss through battle and the even more disastrous epidemic, youth has struggled triumphant and today it is, indeed, their springtime. Not even the misty quiet and thoughtfulness of the Lenten season can lessen their exuberance of spirit, truly not St. Patrick's day. Even the music tried to out rival itself. The floor was just what it should be, the decorations were appropriate, the programs attractive, the punch just right, not too sweet nor yet too sour, but mixed to suit the taste of all.

There were about one hundred couples who enjoyed this notable function, and those who have not attended these dances given by our returned soldiers and sailors, are manifestly much interested for all are anxious to see the boys realize their hope of soon having a club room. In the mean time the dances given by them are nice affairs and much enjoyed, and reflect credit on the boys.

Eastern Star and Rebekah Lodges to Meet.

The Eastern Star will meet next Tuesday night, March 25th, and the Rebekah Lodge will meet Thursday night, March 27th. All members are requested to be present as there is much work to be done.

"The Border Legion."

Blanche Bates in "The Border Legion" played to a crowded house at the Orpheum theatre Monday night. The picture was under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and the crowd was an appreciative one. This is Blanche Bates' first appearance on the screen, and theatre goers, anxious to see this noted actress, crowded the opera house to its full capacity.

Mrs. Bertha Kennedy
Given Surprise Party.

The lady teachers of the Emerson school decided to spend a pleasant evening with Mrs. Kennedy on Tuesday last, so, uninvited, they gathered together and in a body journeyed to Mrs. Kennedy's home where they announced to their co-worker that they had arrived to give her a party. They didn't forget to take along some appetizing dishes with which to refresh themselves a little later, for they went with the intention of spending the entire evening. They were met by their gracious hostess and a most hearty welcome accorded them. An evening of much enjoyment was spent and they left with the intention of inviting themselves again soon to another party; they did not say where, but they will endeavor to select a hostess that will be as glad to see them as was Mrs. Kennedy, and one who will try to make their evening as pleasant as she did.

"SILVER THREADS
AMONG THE GOLD"
(Revised Version)

Darling I am coming back,
Silver threads among the black.

Now that peace in Europe nears,
I'll be home in seven years.

I'll drop in on you some night,
With my whiskers long and white.

Yes, the war is over dear,
And we're going home I hear.

Home again, with you once more,
Say, by nineteen twenty-four.

Once I thought by now I'd be,
Sailing back across the sea.

Back to where you sit and pine,
But—I'm headed for the Rhine.

You can hear old G-2 curse,
"War is hell—but peace is worse."

When the next war comes round,
In the front ranks I'll be found.

I'll rush in again, pell mell,
Yes I will—like HELL, like HELL.

TUBA CITY DEPARTMENT
(By a Live One)

Last week in Tuba City, we were as happy as could be, Harold Lind, a friend of ours, came back from gay Paree. He wore two stripes on his uniform, another of color red, a sign that he was ready to follow, where Pershing led. The Roberts, last week, to Mr. Kerley played the host, the latter's work being, to check his Indian trading post. Mr. Runke and Arthur Watt, just paid the Indians for the horses shot; this stock was not fit to breed, so kill them quick, in government creed. The Indian sometimes makes a shout, poor boob, does not know what he's about, but in good time his sense will bend, and reap the benefit, in the end. Mr. Stanton is sick and sore, Soldier Lind, from Flagstaff bore, some medicine, healing salve good and strong, guaranteed to right the wrong, and by this time we sincerely hope, there are good results, from the Doctor's dope. Down on the farm in the wash, where the government grows hay and yellow squash, and to this now a new man tends, who at the name "Windkoop" unbends. "Rimby Jim," from over the brim of Coconino Point, seems to be quite interested in this Tuba City joint, now what he wants is hard to say, unless it is a package neat and "Gray", but perhaps 'tis better kept it hushed, "Rimby" is gone, they say he blushed. Bob Mitchell in his auto car, drove in from scenes both near and far, from the mines, through the gap, with devil the word and no mishap. Reverend Frey has gone to Los. In the Hopi village he's the boss, the good he's done is rare and fine, being teacher there of things Divine. Chief Clerk Bibb is on the job, and begob, he's mashed them all, the short and tall, the fat and lean, but still no Queen will take a chance that there will be any wedding dance. The other night the ladies sang, 'twas in the kitchen where pot hooks hang, they all joined in, both old and young and here is a verse of what they sang:

"You may dress in a wool sack,
Or any lingerie;

But you can bet your dog-gone life
You'll tie no bibb on me."

The Indians now are in disgust, the price of wool has gone to bust, food they say is very high, let both come down is their daily cry. The Big Medicine Man has gone across, in his day he was a good ole hoss, sang over the sick and made them well, a father eighty times, so they tell, if this is so, I cannot say, but in a conversation to me one day, he claimed three wives at nineteen years, was high on ninety when he left this vale of tears, considering his early stride, his age at the time he died, see his children young and old, you must hand it to him as a Blue Beard bold. J. P. Kerley the other day had a letter from Keith Warren, with this to say, He was across the Rhine on duty bent, to get the Kaiser as he was sent, but instead of getting this old swine, he was on the business end of a great big Stein, and he claims that while "Over There" he will get the Kaiser or the Kaiser's share, of Junker Beer and Weinerwurst, for in the U. S. A. he can't quench his thirst. Now that all have done their bit, the high places only are going to hit, seeing the sights across the deep, taking a look, not a peep, tearing right in with a roar, just as they waded in human gore, dancing and laughing, full of life and good cheer, shocking the "Innocents" over here. Let us be broad minded, Go to it boys, It was YOU got the Kaiser, NOT the KILL JOYS.

NORMAL NOTES
MAY CALHOUN

Last week a very interesting trial was conducted in Miss Hornbein's civic class. The defendant was Neal Phelps and the plaintiff Floyd Hubbard. The charge made was that of "Assault and Battery" committed by Neal Phelps on the person of Floyd Hubbard. The lawyers for the defendant were Harvey Pitts and Chas. Pierce; for the plaintiff, John Conrad and Dewey Campbell. Mr. R. G. Stevenson was the presiding judge; Ruth Murry was the clerk, and Cornelius Buckley the bailiff. The jury was comprised of sage, judicious people who rendered their verdict of "guilty" through their forewoman, Miss Lilly Belle Tally in a very masterful way. Witnesses were plentiful. They all showed the utmost composure and coolness throughout the rigid cross-examination. Many campus happenings were brought to light to the amusement of the people assembled. The trial lasted for three days with the interest of everyone held to the highest pitch during the entire proceeding.

Lieut. Lacy Eastburn has arrived from the east to take charge of the military drill work and some of the English classes. Lieut. Eastburn is a graduate of Springfield Normal college with a P. D. B. and from Drury college with an A. B. He was a professor in Drury college previous to his entering the service and is glad to be back in his old work. It seems that Lieut. Eastburn passed through Flagstaff some few years ago and is back here to become familiar with the sights which he had previously enjoyed.

Last Thursday in general assembly Doctor Slipper gave an address concerning the late Doctor Lowell of the Lowell Observatory. At the conclusion of this speech Mr. Walker announced the rank of the various students in the mathematical classes and Charles Pierce was the student holding the highest rank in the highest mathematics for continuous work taken in this school. Mr. Pierce received the Lowell prize of twenty dollars which is given each year to some student in higher mathematics.

Professor Walker, who has had charge of the department of mathematics at the Normal school is now vice president and every one is very glad to see Mr. Walker holding this position.

Miss Mary Dadey returned from Winslow Tuesday where she spent the week-end.

Frances Blalock of Bury hall spent the week-end at her home in Jerome Junction.

Miss Pauline Jones of Bury hall spent the week with her parents in Winslow.

March 17th Miss Walsh presented a very entertaining program for St. Patrick's day.

The first number on the program was a very delightful Irish dance by the Misses Phelp, Bondeson, Townsend and Margaret Holt in costumes befitting the occasion.

Miss Mary Beckwith sang "A Little Bit of Heaven" and "You'd Better Ask Me" in her usual entertaining way.

Miss Rose Walsh gave two Irish readings, "The Donovans" and "The Old Plaid Shawl." Miss Walsh is always welcomed as a member of any program.

Then "Macushla" was sung by Cornelius Buckley.

Little Katherine Beckwith danced an Irish lilt.

Then a girls' chorus sang some Irish folk song. Those in the chorus were the Misses Abbott, Baker, Howell, Smith, James and Taylor. This concluded a very good program and Harvey Pitts led a yell for the Irish.

Tuesday evening the debating try-out was held in the assembly hall of the Normal school at seven o'clock. The judges were Messrs. Cornelius, Richardson and Gold. Mr. Walker was chairman of the occasion. The contestants were listed as follows: Miss Mary Beckwith, Mr. Harvey Bunch, Miss Clarabelle Douglas, Mr. Harvey Pitts, affirmative; Mr. Paul Richards, Miss May Calhoun, negative. This was Miss Beckwith's first attempt in debating and her argument and delivery were especially good. Mr. Richards gave a very splendid argument, and Mr. Pitts delivered his debate in his usual masterly style. Miss Douglas upheld her past record, and Mr. Bunch was right there with the statistics. Miss Baxter was asked to play while the tellers computed the points. The team which will debate with the Tucson team here in Flagstaff are the Messrs. Paul Richards and Harvey Pitts. Miss Calhoun and Miss Douglas will go to Tucson to debate the Tucson team. The final debate is scheduled for April 26, 1919.

Saturday, March 15th, Campbell hall was the scene of a very pretty birthday party in honor of little Katherine Beckwith who was twelve years old. Very pretty little place cards were used, ice cream and the most delicious cake was served. Those present were Katherine Beckwith, Josephine Lewis, Kathryn Hibben, Alice Moorman, Elizabeth Hall, Mary Lamport, and George Hanley Richard McCormick, Alonzo Street, Raymond McCaughley, Joe Gaddis, and John Topale. The guests danced and made merry till about eight o'clock. Miss Katherine received some very pretty gifts and everyone enjoyed the party. Many of the Normal school students attended the soldier-sailor dance and report a very good time. The dances are always very successful and the students enjoy attending them.

ROADS MIGHTY BAD.

When Ray Curtis and Hugh Tillman started back from Phoenix last Friday in Curtis's new car they encountered some bad roads. When Tillman was asked how the roads were he said he did not see any the great part of the way. They got about 10 miles this side of Ash Fork and leaving the car there came in on the train Sunday night. A twisted drive shaft was the final trouble. Tillman said they were in from six to ten inches of snow and from six to ten feet of mud.

SCHOOL ELECTION MARCH 29th. A week from tomorrow, Saturday, March 29th, will be held the yearly election of one member of the Board of Trustees of School District No. 1, (Flagstaff).

The three present members of the board are J. P. Wilson, Dr. M. G. Fronske and Edgar Whipple. Fronske and Whipple remain in office while J. P. Wilson's term expires and he will not be a candidate for re-election.

The only candidate so far known for the vacant office is V. M. Slipper of Observatory hill.

The voting place will be the Emerson school and hours of voting from 10:00 A. M. to 6:00 P. M.

ATTY. GEORGE HARBEN
COMES TO FLAGSTAFF

Attorney General Wiley E. Jones announced that he had accepted the resignation of George Harben, assistant attorney general. Mr. Harben, it is understood, will leave at once for Flagstaff where he will engage in private practice.

Louis B. Whitney, former assistant in the attorney general's office, will resume his connection with the office at the close of this session of the legislature, Mr. Whitney being advisor to that body.—Phoenix Republican.

BOYS CHARGED WITH KILLING SHEEP

Sheriff Jack Harrington and County Attorney F. M. Gold returned Wednesday night from Winslow with two Mexican boys, Hermenegildo Gonzalez and Ventura Urenda, charged with killing sheep unlawfully. It is alleged that they came on a band of sheep on or near the Indian reservation, and near Denison, Arizona, ran off the Indian girl tending them and killed two or three of the sheep. The Indian agent at Leupp brought the matter to the attention of the authorities. The officials are holding the two boys while a line is being surveyed to find out if the crime was committed in the reservation or on land under the jurisdiction of the county.

BADLY WOUNDED IN A BAD SCRAPE

An altercation at the Greenlaw Lumber company's mill at Cliffs on Tuesday between two Mexican laborers employed there resulted in one lying at present in the Milton hospital and the other in the county jail. Several stories of the affair are current, one being that becoming enraged for some unknown reason, Christobal Rodriguez started after Juan Martinez with a piece of steel in his hand. He succeeded in landing several blows on the fleeing Martinez, who seeing a large iron bolt, picked it up and threw it at his pursuer, striking him on the back of his head and inflicting a dangerous wound. Under sheriff Bill Hicklin was notified and brought Martinez to the county jail where he now waits the outcome of the other's injuries. Rodriguez was taken to the Milton hospital and seeming very much better the next day was allowed to go back to Cliffs. After reaching there, however, he became very much worse and is again in the hospital in a rather serious condition.

WANDERLUST BRINGS
BOYS TO GRIEF

Wednesday night two boys, one giving his age as 16 and the other as 14, hungry, dirty, tired and cold, wandered into the sheriff's office and asked that they be helped in some way. They gave their names as Alonzo Steffen and Everett Dwight and their common home town as Fort Worth, Texas. They claimed to have beaten their way this far and were headed for California. The sheriff's force gave them a bed room, something to eat and the privilege of a bath, and yesterday morning they were in much better spirits. The county attorney's office is trying to get in touch with their people in Fort Worth.

LABOR COUNCIL MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting of the local Labor Council which was to have been held on Tuesday night, was postponed until after the bond election yesterday. The members did appear Tuesday night but after discussion it was thought best to wait before taking any action on the matter in hand. The purpose of the meeting, it is understood, was to formulate plans and methods whereby the city might be influenced, in case the bond issue carried, to let the sewer work by the day, employ only American citizens, recognize the eight hour day, and use all the local labor available. A memorial to this effect has already been submitted to the city council but no definite action was taken on it.

NEILL NAILS BOOTLEGER.

City Marshal Rube Neill nailed a bootlegger Sunday while just in the act of making a pass with a pint of liquor to a Swede at a rooming house. He gave his name as Jesus Hermoliso, an old Mexico Mexican who claims to be a lumberjack. Neill claims that he believes the man has had a habit along this line for some time and had been laying for him and by a little gunshooting, landed him in the act.
